Ebay is truly disgusting and heartless, they have indefinitely suspended my account after I provided ALL documents they requested and I have 100% feedback. They are happily withholding my money for 190 days while I suffer to make ends meet. Customer service agents are heartless and robotic. Shame on you Ebay, I have no idea how these people sleep at night. Date of experience: May 19, 2025They are helping sellers over buyers also letting sellers block you for no reason sellers canceling orders on you then they up the price real nice thing to do to a paying customerDate of experience: June 14, 2025Buyer beware! Returning an item was very difficult. They do not have a good customer service. You cant speak with a real person to resolve issues. The instructions on the website are very confusing. Ive spent 3 days trying to figure out how to make a simple return. I will not buy from EBay again !Date of experience: May 17, 2025Awful!!!!!! Terrible complicated setting up postage. It worked fine before. Terrible hidden fees for buyers. It worked fine before. They now hold your money, so they earn interest off it!!! I set no returns accepted and wrote it on description, but had to refund a buyer, even though item WAS as described, or they would take the money off me anyway. Thiefs!! Something I posted was delivered a week ago, but no funds available to me. Very very hard to contact anyone. Ive taken all my selling items off now. eBay is completely broken now!! It used to be good. But its now unusable. What foolish idiots the ebay bosses are. Date of experience: June 18, 2025I recently started searching for items of interest on eBay so I could buy them on my visit to US. eBay suspended my account without me ever having added a card, having bought something, or having violated any policy. I contacted their support, exchanged 9 emails and every single time, there was a template response that there was some risk to eBay because of me. 9 emails exchanged, their outsourced support keeps sending me Macro responses repeating the same thing with 0 effort spent on trying to help a person who is actually interested in buying products. fwiw, i was interested in buying a watch.Date of experience: April 21, 2025Very slow shipping and had issues with the seller, yet product as expected.Date of experience: June 02, 2025They changed the delivery service to s called (simple delivery) it has caused me issues & stress & I am out of pocket.I spoke to eBay - they went bothered & didnt want to deal with the issues- just blamed the courier when it is them at fault- Im furious. Its not the first time Ive had problems with eBay either & up until now I had 100% positive feedback however it could be affected now because of eBay themselves- ironically. Also the simple delivery can allow scamming easily aswell but eBay are not bothered either.Date of experience: June 17, 2025This may be hard to believe but I ordered a Camelbak 50 oz pack on Ebay. The seller made an offer of $30 USD. I am 100% sure. " this item qualifies for no duties or taxes" (or something to that effect) came up as I checked out. Today .i get this e-mail from DHL E-commerce asking me to pay .what looks like a brokerage fee of $12.50 and GST/PST of $5.49. I refused to do so .as I am a senior (and there are lots of SCAMS) around. So .then it says " we will proceed with the delivery of the package and if it clears customs and no duty .so be it. This is VERY DISHONEST not to mention after I said NO .why do you still proceed to deliver it to me?????.with me hoping it passes through customs with no duty? The fact it still passes thru and you continue tells me this: WE were trying to RIP YOU OFF for those fees while the package was still in the U S. ABSOLUTELY DISGRACEFUL!Stay away from this site..I will never trust anything AMERICAN again!Date of experience: June 18, 2025eBay is probably a good site. But it doesn't suit me anymore, because eBay sellers have the right not to deliver the goods to you after receiving your money. Also, on the eBay site, sellers may not return your money if they fail to deliver the goods you bought. And the eBay site will not help you in any way when you personally find yourself on eBay in a situation without money and goods.Date of experience: June 17, 2025Long-time Member Treated Poorly eBay Ignores Australian Consumer LawI've been an eBay member for over 16 years, but my recent experience has been incredibly disappointing. I purchased an item that was never posted, and the seller completely ignored my messages. Despite having clear evidence, eBay refused to issue a refund and hid behind their internal policies.Whats worse is that eBay's policies blatantly disregard Australian Consumer Law, which clearly states that if an item isnt delivered within a reasonable or agreed timeframe, the buyer is entitled to a refund of story.On top of that, eBay fees have skyrocketed over the years while customer service and buyer protection have gone in the opposite direction. For a platform that used to pride itself on trust and safety, its now become a joke.Extremely disappointed. After 16 years of loyalty, its clear eBay no longer values its users or respects the laws of the countries it operates in.Date of experience: June 18, 2025Sellers DO NOT engage this platform for your merchandise. You may encounter selling merchandise, shipping merchandise, being left positive feedback by your buyers and eBay NOT releasing funds because "tracking" (on a shipping label eBay sells you) does not indicate delivery. What an ABSOLUTELY ILLEGAL RACKET!!!On top of that, the collectible coin category is full of counterfeit items that even if you use the "Report this item" function to properly bring the matter to eBay's attention, you may get a response that eBay found nothing against their policy. I found this strange as they absolutely do have a no counterfeit policy (as does the United States of America where eBay is headquartered). I guess when eBay profits, they don't care about US LAW or aiding counterfeits whose efforts undermine the hard working money of everyday Americans.Then there's the "Customer Service," hahaha. Try finding a phone number: it'll take you a while. Try getting someone you can understand: you'll need to ask for a 'supervisor.' Try getting them to adhere to their own policies: you'll die before that happens. The lack of any concern for the needs of a paying seller on their platform is nearly as bad as their quite literally stealing money from paying sellers on their platform.A product of silicon valley and the anti-American policy pushing party, eBay's unaligned policies and actions have proven it unworthy of US consumers and sellers.Date of experience: June 17, 2025They took down listing for no reason.Date of experience: June 17, 2025They are thieves, just selling an item for $55 and they were without any shame collecting the half of it for them. What? legal SCAMMERS Date of experience: June 17, 2025I wanted to order a car part with ebay. I did not realize that I had an expensive car part already in the ebay shopping cart from a month earlier, something I no longer needed.I hit the order button for the part I needed, not realizing the expensive part was still in the cart. The order for two items went through. This was on a Saturday. Within 5 minutes, I sent a note to the seller, and hit the cancel button. A few days later, the seller shipped the item. The item was received and now I am required to pay return shipping of over $20. I have written the seller 3 or 4 times, and the seller will not respond. Ebay has no easy way to ask them to intervene. Finally, I got through to an ebay customer service agent. They basically said it was my tough luck, the seller does not have to do anything, not even respond. I let the ebay representative know that with Amazon, several times I have cancelled an order within a few minutes. The response was that Amazon does thing differently, so they can do that. I've been using ebay for about 16 years, and this is a real disappointment. Date of experience: June 07, 202502-13013-49229 order number I bought the product but the product was not delivered to me, I wrote to ebay about it, it will be 1 month and they still haven't refunded me, I am disappointed and I want the refund to be madeDate of experience: May 24, 2025I have used ebay for more years than I can even remember. I had a seller I purchased from who apparently was a scammer. They provided two different tracking numbers, one from FedEx and one from UPS. Both tracking numbers show delivered and I got neither of the supposed shipments. No worries, I will take it up with ebay. In the past they never did me wrong. UNTIL NOW! They sided with the seller despite conflicting shipping information and delivery confirmation photos that are not my home. So now I am out the money for the order. I will NEVER make a purchase through ebay again. They have failed to protect my purchase and are losing a 20 plus year customer after this experience. They are allowing foreign sellers and scammers to ruin their platform.Date of experience: June 17, 2025SELLERS BEWARE!!!! If I could leave zero stars I would. I created my account in March. I have dozens of items being graded by PSA, they will be worth tens of thousands of dollars, for which I was planning on listing via Ebay through the PSA Vault program. In June when my items are ready to transfer to ebay, I am told my ebay account was suspended, and why? Well, ebay cannot tell me because of "fact sharing such information may cause in manipulating our policy; we may not be able to share this information." Whatever that means. After chatting with a robot that got me nowhere, 17+ emails and finally speaking with 2 different phone CSRs, my business account remains suspended indefinitely. At this point not only will I never SELL on ebay, now will I never PURCHASE from them again.Date of experience: June 16, 2025SELLERS BEWARE - eBay charges deceptive and unfair fees. They purposely hide their fee break-down so it took me several minutes to find that they sneakily charged me a 1.65% "International Fee" because apparently the guy is Filipino and uses a US address. Bear in mind that I have absolutely nothing to do with the customer info, nor did I have a choice in the matter.These guys do NOT care about their sellers. They constantly try to shake you down for extra fees, and they're dishonest to boot.Date of experience: June 16, 2025Absolutely brilliant!! Stop buying on Amazon - Ebay is so much better!! The site is so much easier to use, so much better programmed and organised, and customer service is a million times better. I don't understand at all why people left bad reviews here. I have bought and sold thousands of items on Ebay over the last 10+ years and my experience has been 99.99999% positive!Date of experience: June 16, 2025These 5 stars are not for ebay per se. Certainly not! They are for the family firm, 'Next-Door-Store' who use the Ebay platform.The number of times an Ebay courier has (almost) ruined a company's good name is approaching infinity and my review is but one example of this.Next-Door-Store's parcel (an autobiography) was unceremoniously dumped in a secluded area at the side of the property where it steadily got wetter and wetter after each shower of rain.However, the afore-mentioned company were quick to respond (obviously trying to protect their good name) and the matter was successfully resolved to the satisfaction of both parties.For some unfathomable reason, most Ebay drivers have lost the ability to use a 'phone these days: they just arrive with the skill of a ninja warrior and leave. Although having stayed in waiting for the delivery, the client has no idea it's already been delivered and left...somewhere!End of rant. Please visit 'Next-Door-Store' and search their website.
