Skip to Main Content Katong continues to be exciting for new restaurants and cafes, and in comes ice cream and waffles place Hay Gelato. Located along East Coast Road (opposite i12 Katong), it is just walking steps away from the popular and Michelin-recommended Birds of Paradise. Do we sense some competition here? In case you find the name Hay Gelato vaguely familiar, the original outlet is located at Bedok North. In fact, despite the tough ice cream competition, business was so well that the owners was reported to break even just one and a half months after opening. The cafe is set up by the folks behind behind Brine Restaurant at North Bridge Road. A single scoop of gelato is priced at $4.20 whereas premium flavours will cost an additional $1, and waffles at $5.50. Some interesting flavours included the Vanilla Himalayan Salt, Dulce de Luche, Preserved Orange Peel, and Hojicha. If you are curious what their top flavours are, they are Roasted Cacao, Roasted Pistachio, Balsamic Strawberry, Rosemary Brown Sugar, and Smoked Hay. Smoked Hay? This particular flavour is made by smoking real hay and infusing into their milk-based gelato. In terms of presentation, the Smoked Hay gelato was dented in the centre with cocoa nibs on top. The gelato was smooth and milky, with distinctive smoky flavours that might linger in the mouth a little. Loved the additional touch of cocoa nibs, for added crunch and chocolatey-ness. The pistachio flavour was delightfully rich and nutty without being too sweet. I find that sometimes being too sweet can take away appreciating the flavours. Worth a try. The waffle was the golden-brown and fluffy type, not overly fluffy and still not bad. And hay, it is opened till 1am during Fridays and Saturdays.
